Lead finance with insights and innovation

Autonomous finance is not a destination. It is a discipline and CFOs must lead the way.

CFOs face mounting pressure to deliver a more autonomous finance function, but this future must be intentionally designed, funded and made accountable for results. In 2026, CFOs must adopt and scale AI and automation beyond pilots, integrate and clean data sources, upskill teams and drive cost efficiencies.

The Gartner Finance Symposium/Xpo™ 2026 conference agenda explores how to build a finance organization where insights drive faster decisions, automation streamlines processes and finance teams engage with the business. CFOs and finance executives can learn to assess AI's real impact, streamline operations, navigate growth amid volatility and foster a culture focused on innovation and high-impact work.

Gain insights you can trust.

The only finance conference shaped by data-driven insights and over 15,000 annual conversations between Gartner analysts and the finance community.

Agenda tracks

A Leadership Influence: Leading With Conviction, Speed and Influence
CFOs must be the decisive voice in the room or they're not in the room. This track sharpens the CFO's edge on enterprise leadership, board engagement, time discipline and influence across the C-suite. We'll tackle how to lead through ambiguity, assert strategy in a fog of data and drive action, not just insights.

B Enterprise Financial Strategy: Navigating Volatility, Seizing Growth
The macro may stay uncertain, but your capital strategy can't. This track centers on how CFOs reallocate capital, structure flexible partnerships, fund innovation under pressure and stay agile in the face of geopolitical, supply chain and policy risk.

Hot topics

- Board, investor and stakeholder comms
- Change management
- Leadership effectiveness
- Finance talent strategy and management

- Cost optimization

C

Technology and Innovation: AI, Automation and ROI – No More Pilots, Only Payoffs

By 2026, boards won't tolerate AI theater. This track moves CFOs past experimentation to results: where to double down, where to pull back and how to scale AI with measurable value. We'll break down AI ROI, tech stack integration, ERP transitions and what it really takes to win the talent and technology race.

- AI in finance
- Finance technology solutions and deployment
- Finance technology and transformation strategy
- ERP finance
- Finance D&A

D

Finance Operational Excellence: Building Lean, Scalable, Digital Finance

CFOs need a finance function that runs lighter, moves faster and delivers sharper insights. This track is about future-ready operating models, talent with digital fluency and transformation that sticks. From ERP vendors to shared services to cloud controls, we'll cut through complexity and get to what works.

- Accounting and transactional processes and technologies
- Financial planning
- Finance function strategy and org design
- Finance talent strategy and management

Spotlight tracks

Corporate Controller Spotlight: Modern Controlling With Less Risk, Less Headcount

Controllers are under pressure to run leaner, faster and cleaner books, without compromising oversight or introducing new risks. This track focuses on the core of financial controlling: close and consolidation, account reconciliation, compliance and reporting.

We'll explore how AI and automation are being deployed to reduce manual effort, shrink cycle times and cut headcount risk while strengthening controls. Learn how to modernize accounting operations and own the future of financial governance.

FP&A Spotlight: From Planning to Provoking Action

Traditional planning is obsolete. This track is for FP&A leaders who want to drive business performance, not just report on it. Learn to own scenario planning, build rolling forecasts that flex with reality and create dashboards that drive decisions.

Finance Transformation Leader Spotlight: Make Change Stick

Transformation isn't a phase; it's a permanent skill set. This track delivers battle-tested strategies for leading cross-functional finance transformation, aligning to enterprise priorities and delivering ROI from ERP, automation and cloud investments.

“I had high expectations for this conference and Gartner surpassed all of them. The speakers were next level, the topics were excellent and the information was of high value.”

Sandra Trevino, CFO, TCA Software Solutions
