Elevating Human Potential in an AI-Native Workplace

Join a global community of digital workplace leaders.

We have arrived at an inflection point, a year of transition when generative and agentic AI transitions from pilot to widespread deployments.

To fully realize these opportunities, organizations must evolve. Digital workplace leaders, who embrace a growth mindset, raise maturity, strengthen governance, improve data quality, and build workforce digital dexterity and AI literacy, are best positioned to drive success. By overcoming operational and governance challenges and mitigating sprawl and risks, digital workplace leaders will enable, empower and elevate their organizations to thrive in the age of AI.

Gartner Opening Keynote

The Human Compass: Chart Your Course to an AI-Native Workplace

Your organization is on a journey that requires more than just speed; it demands a clear sense of direction — a journey to elevate human potential in an AI-native workplace. Organizations must stop just chasing tools and vendor hype and instead empower their employees to thrive in this new world. To do this, the digital workplace leader must focus on four key areas: governance, trust, empowerment and imagination. Join us as we remap the digital workplace to enable leaders and employees to thrive in the AI-native era.
